Record Book-

For my body of work, I have chosen record books. One of my ideas was to hold either a county wide event or go to each club individually, and give an interactive presentation on record books in the form of a “Knowledge Bowl”. I could provide a homework sheet the month before I visit that would cover record book “myths”, do’s and don’ts, and easy “life hacks” on how to stay organized throughout a busy 4-H year.

When I arrive to the event (or club). We would go over the topics, and maybe some things I asked them to study. Depending on the size of the group, I would create teams, and have a friendly knowledge competition on something that is normally dreaded. In the end, everyone would leave with more knowledge on their record book, and a little less afraid when it comes to the end of the year.

My second idea is to make a YouTube video on the difference between Project Expression pages and the Collection of work pages. I would create a tutorial on how to make these pages cute and simple, and explain the difference of the two. I could use my own photos or graphics. For example: An Expression Page is what you learned in the project that year with pictures or your own graphics. (IE a photo at a project meeting learning or a drawing of something educational) A Collection of Work is what you did over the year with pictures. (IE group photos or action photos with tiles of what is happening.) It is easy to get confused over the two. I would also explain why they are needed.

This video can be viewed at a council meeting, club meeting, project meeting or as part of a new member step. It can be posted on the county website.
