

4-H Financial Fireside chat

This training is a casual discussion of 4-H club financial planning, fundraising and processing of club funds or project funds.
This is Ideal for adult volunteers, parents, members and leaders who want to help their 4-H club to be able to set financial goals, follow policy and be financially successful.

Date: January 10th, 5-7 pm
Location: Chalone Peaks Library, 667 Meyer Street, King City

As a group, we can explore and guide club volunteers in how to interpret 4-H policy, requirements, guidelines and "best practices". In reviewing Chapter 9 of the state policy handbook, the discussion can include questions such as:

- What should our club be fundraising for?
- What are the steps for successful club or project fundraisers?
- What kinds of gifts $$ can we give or receive?
- How does money policy work at the state, county and club level?
- Do we "give with our hands" or with our checkbook to charity?
- What kind of financial reporting are clubs required to complete and by when?
- Where can I find Chapter 9 policies? (http://4h.ucanr.edu/Administration/Policies/Chapter9/)

Why attend this training? The California 4-H Youth Development Program is a major educational effort that is central to the mission of the University of California Cooperative Extension system. 4-H clubs, when authorized by the issuance of a 4-H charter, are granted certain privileges and responsibilities related to financial activities. They are authorized by the 4-H charter to carry out a program of youth development activities using the 4-H name and emblem. It is the role of the 4-H county program offices to have authority to organize, account and manage the operational and fiscal concerns of the 4-H YDP programs, projects and clubs under their jurisdiction.

Please RSVP the number coming from your club to assure there will be adequate handouts.
